A lot of times, things happen against our expectations. And this is normal by the way. Do not be shocked. It is سنة الحياة.

You work hard for yourself and not for others.

You do your best for your development and keeping on your pace, for yourself and not for others.

You help others for your internal happiness and satisfaction not for others; even if it is part of it.

As a result, sometimes money, gratitude, saying Thank you is not enough. You are doing what you want by will and you received what you deserve inside. It is an Intrinsic Feeling. It is not tangible. You have been rewarded.

Still, you have to walk away from these things that does not meet your expectations.

Be strong and challengeable to create your own Expectations. It is a Will. You can do it! Keep the Smile and think about it!
